MARYLAND INSTITUTE,

(FOR YOUNG GENTLEMEN,)

CHARLES STREET,

Opposite St. Paul's Church.

This Institution was opened May 1, 1839, in the commodious rooms in which Dr. J. N. BAXTER, previously conducted a Classical and Scientific School. The Chemical, Philosophical and Astronomical Apparatus is extensive and well selected. The plan of the Institute embraces all the branches of a complete English education, with the Latin, Greek, French, Spanish and German languages. Lessons in the Modern Languages are given daily.

Scholars in the Classical or Mathematical Department, who enter for the year, will not be charged extra for the Modern Languages; but those who attend only by the quarter, will be charged the usual extra rate of $8 per quarter.

In addition to the branches which have been taught heretofore, a class will meet on every Saturday, in the forenoon, in Architectural Drawing. Those who desire it will have an opportunity of pursuing their studies during the Summer holidays. A record will be kept of every recitation, and the pupils who may have recited the largest number of perfect lessons in their respective classes, during the year, will have suitable premiums awarded them at the expiration of the Summer Term. Arrangements have been made with the different Professors of the Institute, to accommodate a limited number of pupils with board. It is conceived that this plan will greatly aid those of tender years, and will also be free from the objections which usually appertain to extensive boarding establishments.

The PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT of the Institute, has been removed to the South-west corner of Eutaw and Mulberry streets, and is entirely under the care and superintendence of H. J. NORTON, an able and experienced Teacher.

The pupils in this Department have the privilege of attending the Course of Lectures on Astronomy, Chemistry, and Natural Philosophy.

The duties of instruction for the ensuing scholastic year, will be resumed with many advantages under the new arrangement for the acquisition of knowledge, on MONDAY, the 30th of August, 1841, and close on the third FRIDAY in July, 1842. No deduction will be made for absence.

☞ Parents and Guardians who wish to examine the rooms, or enter pupils, will receive every attention upon calling at the Preparatory School Room, at the Institute in Courtland street, or at the residence of DR. JOHN N. BAXTER, on the east side of Saint Paul-st. third door south of Saratoga st., between the hours of 9 A. M. and 12 M.

TERMS:

For Reading, Spelling, Geography, English Grammar, Arithmetic and Writing,	$10 00	per quarter.
Mathematical Department,	15 00	"
Classical Department,	15 00	"

☞ A deduction of $10 will be made on the bills of those who enter for the year and pay half yearly in advance.

A Veto on English or French Hats.

WHO TALKS OF IMPORTING HATS FROM ENGLAND OR FRANCE, while "KEEVIL" is in the field? Pshaw, 'tis sheer folly! For while he continues to sell his beautiful HATS at his present reduced prices, any such a speculation as importing Hats from Europe will be "no go" or of "non-effect." Why KEEVIL will sell you a handsome SILK HAT for only $2.50, and a first rate RUSSIA HAT for $3.50. Also, a most superb NUTRIA BEAVER HAT for $4.00, being at least one dollar on each hat less than is charged at other Stores. The hatters, therefore, on the other side of the Atlantic had better keep their hats at home, as it would be quite as profitable for them to send "wooden nutmegs" and "saw dust hams" to New England, or "coals to Newcastle," as Hats to Baltimore, to compete with the well known

THE PUBLISHER

Of the Baltimore Director, deems it superfluous to say much on the occasion of his issuing his tenth edition. The immense labor and monotonous task of collecting the name, occupation, and location of each householder in Baltimore, is once more accomplished, and we present in this edition, the largest number of names yet published.

We feel grateful for the discreet and civil response we have received from our fellow citizens, to our inquiries for the necessary information; and for the support of the public spirited, intelligent, and just, in subscribing for copies of the work. We have had little or no difficulty with such, as they are already convinced; by reflecting, that the nature of this publication renders it liable to imperfection more than any other, or they are ready to hear our arguments to prove it, and are not unreasonable in their expectations—nor observations. There is not one name out of twenty but will admit of various modes of spelling, equally correct—as there is no rule for spelling names, (neither in Baltimore, "Philadelphia, New York," or elsewhere; any more than there is a law to keep people from moving after their names are taken, and those places are as liable to, and their directories are complained of as much, if not more, for containing errors, than ours, the thoughtless assertions of some few to the contrary notwitstanding.) There are families in Baltimore who spell their names, the one Geese, the other Giese, each equally correct and pronounced alike; others, Reilly and Riley, Smith and Smyth, Adkinson and Atkinson, &c. Let any reader examine for his own satisfaction, and he will have difficulty in finding a name that will not admit of more than one mode of spelling; and a person looking for a name, and not finding it in the director according to his mode, ought not to conclude that it does not contain it, as, if the compiler spells it differently, it is put in the alphabetical order of his arrangement. Again, a man (or his clerk, journeyman or porter,) gives the name, business, street and number of place of business, and dwelling, which are in different parts of the city; the same or another person, (four were employed in compiling this director,) calls at the dwelling, if the same person takes both, it is impossible that he can remember in all cases having taken it elsewhere; it is given quite differently, in pronouncing the name, by the lady, child, or servant, as also the street and number, and business.—Where there are firms the difficulty is increased; and in neither case, whether the addresses are both taken by the same or different persons, can it be determined which is correct without again enquiring, where conflicting directions are detected, as is frequently done in arranging the names for the press, and we have walked miles to make such corrections, repeatedly. Houses and parts of houses are shut up, and we have to take the names from their neighbours, if they know, if not, we cannot remember in all cases to call again.—Some have forbidden their name to be inserted. A number of persons cannot spell their names, and with these reasons in view, we would admonish our fellow citizens from expecting too much—or making unreasonable remarks. We have used our best endeavours to have it as correct as practicable, and believe we have succeeded. We do not say we have made no errors, in all our drudgery of collecting the names, and writing, transcribing and printing.

The thoughtless, envious, and silly inuendoes thrown out by heedless, and by worse than heedless persons, who have made use of our labours on various occasions, and which cost them nothing, we deem unworthy of notice.

The price of the Book and map is $1.50, and we unhesitatingly say, admitting we sell the whole edition, we have given value in labor and expense for all we shall receive. We have printed no more than we expect to sell—and if there were no borrowing, not so many as we could sell.

We have inserted some blank leaves in page 414, at the end of the white householders, in order that the subscribers may put the name, occupation and residence of any who may be omitted, as well as correct any thing they may know to be erroneous. No copies will be sold until the subscribers are served, and they are respectfully invited to note such omission, alteration or correction, as soon as convenient, and send it to the publisher, who will print a supplement of all such omissions, corrections and alterations, as are furnished, as soon as practicable, without charge.

☞The colored householders are by themselves, and commence at page 416.

DIRECTIONS TO THE READER.

(St.) street. (av.) avenue. (al.) alley. (cor.) corner. n. north. s. south. e. east. w. west. (com. mts.) commission merchants. (dw.) dwelling. (man.) manufacturer.

There being no rule for spelling persons' names, and the various spellings which almost every name admits of, renders it impossible for us to spell every one's name as he or she may: when readers therefore seek for any name, whether their own or any one else's, and do not find it according to their spelling, they will have to use such other orthography as the name admits of, until found. All the houses occupied in the city have been called at, and the occupant's name, business, &c. enquired for, and every effort practicable, used to obtain correct information. We cannot be accountable for incorrect information given by minors, servants, &c. in cases of the absence of the heads of the house.

Notices were also posted at the corners to the same effect. If such notices have not been attended to, no reasonable fault can be ascribed to us, should omissions be the consequence. We now invite our friends, and citizens generally, to make such corrections, or any mis-spelling or omissions by us accidentally made, on the following blank leaves, and leave them at the office by the 13th Sept., and we will print and furnish each subscriber or purchaser with a copy, gratis.

BALTIMORE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The Public Schools in Baltimore are a High School for boys and six primary schools for both sexes; they are managed by a Board of Commissioners, who receive their appointment annually from the City Council.

The funds for the support of the Schools are raised, principally, by a light tax on the taxable property of the inhabitants; the charge for tuition being merely nominal—only one dollar a quarter, and this entitles the pupil to the use of the books and other property of the school.

The system of instruction in all the Primary Schools is that of "simultaneous recitations."

The Commissioners meet every Tuesday P. M. at the City Hall. John R. Moore, Prest. C. Gilman, Treas. J. W. Tilyard, Clerk.

Primary School No. 1, on the N. E. corner of Fayette and Greene streets, has upwards of 300 boys. M. Conolly principal, L. Wilder and E. C. Baldwin, Assistants.

No. 2, S. W. corner of Bank & Market streets. F. P. This School has more than 250 boys. William Gibson, Principal, J. Murphy, Assistant.

No. 3, Aisquith street near Pitt—has nearly 300 boys. R. Conolly, Principal, J. McCorden, Assistant.

No. 4, N. E. corner Hanover and Barre streets; has about 200 boys. John H. Falconer, Principal, John Coulter, Assist't.

No. 5, Monument street near Forest; has more than 200 boys. T. H. Robinson, Principal, B. Charles, Assistant.

No. 6, Ross street corner of Deluol alley; has about 200 boys. E. Y. Reese, Principal, F. Grammer, M. D. Assistant.

The Female Departments are all in the same building with the Male Departments, with the exception of No. 3, which is at the corner of Pitt and Front streets.

No. 1 has over 150 Girls—Miss M. McConkey, Principal, Miss Boyd, Assistant.

No. 2 has about 200 Girls—Miss M. McDermott, Principal, Miss G. McDermott, Assistant.

No. 3 has about 150 Girls—Mrs. Ross, Principal, Miss Brown, Assistant.

No. 4 has about 150 Girls—Mrs. King, Principal, Miss King, Assistant.

No. 5 has about 160 Girls—Miss A. L. Story, Principal, Miss L. Simpson, Assistant.

No. 6 has about 130 Girls—Miss M. Godman, Principal, Miss A. Godman, Assistant.

Night Schools are kept, in the same buildings, by the same teachers, for which they are allowed some extra compensation. These have upwards of 500 Scholars.

The High School is located in a large airy hall at the corner of Hanover and Lombard streets, and has nearly 100 pupils. Here the boys are instructed in the classics and the higher branches of the Mathematics. BALTIMORE MANUAL LABOR SCHOOL FOR INDIGENT BOYS.

This is an Institution designed to afford to the destitute boy the same benefits which the Female Orphan Asylum, in Mulberry street, has for a number of years conferred on the helpless orphan girl; and owes perhaps its existence, in some degree, to generous emotions excited by the successful benevolence of the latter noble establishment. A few ardent friends of destitute childhood obtained, in 1840, a charter for this school: they were happily encouraged by a very liberal subscription on the part of a comparatively limited number of our citizens; and it is probable that but for the commercial difficulties which so immediately followed their incipient efforts, the number of subscribers would have been greatly increased, and the funds sufficiently enlarged to accomplish much more in the good cause. Notwithstanding these difficulties, however, the managers have purchased a good farm of about 140 acres, within seven miles of the city, and lying between the Washington and Frederick turnpike roads. On this farm were a respectable stone dwelling and barn with minor improvements, to which has been added a good frame house; and thirty-six boys, who within the last fifteen months had no prospects but ignorance, vice and friendless penury, are now receiving the benefits of moral, intellectual and physical training; finding in this institution kind friends and the opportunity of becoming useful and respectable members of society. In all applications for admission (and they are much more numerous than the present narrow means of the corporation can receive) the most destitute have the preference. The beneficiaries are instructed in reading, writing, arithmetic and English grammar, and are required to work on the farm according to their respective ability. They are under the control of the Board of Managers until the age of twenty-one years, either to be trained to agricultural pursuits, or in due season to be bound to a trade.

The Bible is required by the charter to be used as a school-book.

A farmer, a matron and a teacher, have at present the care of the Farm and School; under the immediate superintendence of the Board of Managers.

A donation of fifty dollars constitutes the donor a life member of the corporation; an annual subscription of five dollars confers membership during its continuance.

The officers at present are—Richard Lemmon, Pres't.; Geo. W. Norris, Vice Pres't.; Wm. H. Beatty, Treasurer; Thomas E. Bond, Secretary
